Software Earnings Provides High Levels of Reliability for Customers' Business Needs

Payments processing system operates virtually error-free

MEMPHIS, Tenn. November, 2011— Software Earnings is pleased to report high levels of quality assurance for their core solutions due to the company's extensive product testing. Software Earnings' Payments Navigator, provides customers with solid solutions that require minimal adjustments.

Banks who have installed payments processing systems into their businesses know that implementing and maintaining operations can be time-consuming. Without reliable systems, businesses may spend valuable time and resources trying to correct system errors. When systems are delayed, both banks and their customers suffer.

Software Earnings has taken several measures to ensure high levels of quality assurance for their customers. All quality assurance testers have their own software systems with which they import the configurations for single customers and test the code level. Each tester performs end-to-end testing utilizing the latest operating systems, patches and database updates. New features and software changes are tested to certify that they are stable.

Software Earnings' Payments Navigator runs so smoothly that the company receives a significantly low number of calls to customers support.

"At Software Earnings, we strive to provide our customers with the very best solutions possible. We are pleased that our software has proven its reliability by running with only a marginal number of errors. When customers trust us with their payments processing, they can count on products that run smoothly and efficiently, allowing customers to devote their time and focus to other business matters," said Mark Reasons, executive vice president of business support services at Software Earnings.

Customers of Payments Navigator can expect to have almost no issues with the system's operations. Payments Navigator is a complete payments processing solution that includes capture, data analysis and verification, and distribution.
